

Envoy Desks

Easy desk booking for the safe, flexible workplace

With Envoy Desks, you can empower your employees to reserve a desk to collaborate with teammates while keeping a safe distance on-site.

Adapt your space for safety and flexibility

Easily add or remove desk availability as your local guidelines change and designate neighborhoods so teammates can work near each other.

Rely on easy and automatic desk booking

Employees book a desk for the day or in advance. After they complete your health check, Envoy automatically assigns them a desk that they can change in a few taps.

Use your space efficiently

See which desks are used and how often, so you can spot trends, make data-informed real estate decisions, and keep up with the demands of your team.

How you and your team use Desks

1. Designate which desks are available

Determine which desks are available to book, permanently assigned, or unavailable to maintain social distancing.

2. Employees book a desk from the Envoy app

Employees can book a desk for the day or in advance right from their phone or on the web. They have the flexibility to choose where to sit, depending on what they need to get done that day.

3. Automatically seat teammates near each other

Designate neighborhoods so teammates can work near each other to collaborate. Automatically seat teammates by function or project team, while still giving them the flexibility to change their desk if they prefer.

4. Make smart decisions about your space

Get an accurate view of who and how many people plan to work on-site each day so you can right-size your layout to support your team and minimize wasted space.
